

The background image shows three young women in white lab coats standing in a classroom. They are looking at each other and smiling. Behind them are various educational posters and charts. One poster on the left is titled 'PERSONALITY DISORDERS' and lists 'Primary Disorders'. Another poster on the right is titled 'HELPER' and lists 'Strength' and 'Weakness'. There are also posters for 'OBSERVER', 'ARTIST', 'NEEDS', 'RESOURCES & VIF', and 'SLDTH DILIGENCE'. A map of Africa is visible in the background.

Certificate, Diploma & Bachelor in Psychology & Counselling

The Psychology & Counselling Programme empowers the students with knowledge, skills and abilities (KSAs) that allow them confidently and wisely to choose any number of therapeutic avenues to provide effective and meaningful assistance to those who suffer from any sort of social dislocation or other emotional, mental, or spiritual problem. This programme provides the students with the know-how necessary to implement strategies for the prevention of psychosocial problems that do not make themselves felt at the present moment but could very well come to the surface in the future. The career opportunities for the graduates range from that of professional counsellors, psychological health agents and psychosocial aides for the adolescents both in and out of school; counsellors and psychological health agents to those who are suffering in hospitals together with the medical staff who care for them; and psychosocial health agents for the chronically ill, the mentally and emotionally challenged, and for the dying.
